ASSETS

The Appeal Process

You can ask for an appeal of your assessment of financial need if circumstances set you apart from other students.

All appeal requests are reviewed by StudentAid BC staff, who will consider the information you provide and review your supporting documentation.

You must show that your circumstances differ significantly from other students.

The first steps

1. If you are attending a B.C. private school or a school outside B.C., contact StudentAid BC for help. If you are attending a public university, college or institute in B.C., we encourage you to discuss your situation with a financial aid officer at your school, as they can help with the appeal process.
2. Read the detailed information provided on the appeal forms.
3. Include a letter outlining your request, social insurance number, name and address, and attach all required documentation. Mail, fax, or email this information to StudentAid BC.

Your appeal request must include the following:

- A clear explanation of what you are appealing.
- What your situation is and why you are requesting an appeal.
- What makes your circumstances exceptional when compared with other students.
- How your circumstances prevent you from successfully completing your studies.
- What other funding options you have explored, such as part-time work, bursaries, scholarships, personal lines of credit.
- Documentation that supports your appeal.

In some cases, the appeal request will be referred to an independent appeal committee. The appeal committee includes members of the public, students, and financial aid officers from colleges, institutes and universities. Appeal committee recommendations are final. The committee will not consider submissions on policies that are not eligible for appeal.

Note: If your resources – such as student or spousal prestudy income, study period income or assets – have changed, please submit an Appendix 7: Request for Reassessment.

Appeal Request Form

Deadlines and Policies not eligible for appeal

Some policies and criteria are not eligible for appeal.

These include but are not limited to the following:

- Grants and/or loan funding for previous program years.
- Deadline for appeal, except where severe medical circumstances prevent submission by the deadline.
- Grant/loan overawards that result from an audit.
- Requests to issue student financial assistance more than five months after your study period ends.
- Standard allowances.
- Weekly maximums.
- 10-year maximum (520 weeks).
- B.C. Completion Grant.
- If the student is rehabilitated for student loans after a multiple withdrawal/unsuccessful appeal request and again withdrawals or is unsuccessful.
- Assets including stocks, shares, CSBs, RRSPs, RESPs, mutual funds, etc., unless legal reasons prevented you from selling these assets.
- Policies that are not eligible for appeal are also not eligible for consideration by the independent appeal committee.

Deadlines

Appeals submitted after the deadline will not be considered unless severe medical circumstances have prevented you from submitting the appeal, and all required documentation, on time.

- The deadline to request an appeal of an overaward, other than an overaward resulting from an audit, is 90 days from the date of the original letter mailed to you, advising you of the overaward amounts.
- The deadline to submit an appeal request for a debt management decision is six months from the date of the original letter notifying you of the outcome of your B.C. debt management assessment.
- The deadline to submit an appeal request for all other situations is six weeks before your study period ends.

StudentAid BC cannot guarantee a final decision before your study period ends if either of the following is true:

- Further documentation is required and not submitted by the appropriate deadline.
- Your request is forwarded to the independent appeals committee less than six weeks before your study period ends.

REAL ESTATE/REVENUE PROPERTY/RECREATIONAL PROPERTY

If you have property that has been for sale and you want to have it excluded, all the following documentation is also required:

- A letter from a real estate firm stating the date of the listing, the asking price or reason why the property cannot be sold.
- A copy of the listing agreement.
- A letter from the financial institution that holds the existing mortgage stating the principal balance outstanding.
- A statement indicating the amount and the date of the down payment, and an explanation of why the funds were not directed towards your education.

OTHER FIXED ASSETS

A request to exclude your or your spouse's/common-law partner's other fixed assets from your financial assessment through StudentAid BC, must include all the following documentation:

- A letter from you or your spouse/common-law partner explaining why the asset should be excluded and what other financial options you have investigated.
- Proof of attempts to sell the asset.
- A letter from a financial institution stating whether or not you or your spouse/common-law partner can use the asset as collateral for a personal loan.

BONDS, GIC, STOCKS, PENSION PLAN FUNDS, ETC. (liquid assets)

A request to exclude your or your spouse's/common-law partner's liquid assets from your financial assessment through StudentAid BC must include the following documentation:

- A letter from you or your spouse/common-law partner stating why the asset should be excluded, what other financial options you have investigated, and the legal reasons that prevented you from liquidating.
- A letter from your financial institution or brokerage firm stating the original purchase date, the date of maturity, the redemption regulations, whether the asset(s) can be borrowed against, the amount currently invested, the amount owing and the current net worth.
- Documentation that your pension is covered under pension legislation, and that you have been a member of this plan for more than two years.

RRSPs

If you are asking that the value of your RRSP or your spouse's/common-law partner's RRSP be excluded from financial assessment, you must provide the following documentation:

- A letter from you and/or your spouse/common-law partner explaining why the RRSPs should not be assessed and what other financial options you have investigated.
- A letter from the financial institution holding the RRSP outlining the original purchase date, the date of maturity, the redemption regulations, whether the asset(s) can be borrowed against, the amount currently invested plus the amount owing, and the current net worth.

Note:

If you asset cannot be liquidated or used for collateral due to legal reasons (i.e., divorce/separation), please provide legal documentation.

Allow 4-6 weeks for processing.

PLEASE STAPLE ANY REQUIRED DOCUMENTATION TO THIS FORM
